It is not to be supposed that the ore raised in merely opening a mine will pay the cost of the work. It is only when you have reached the point to cut down the backs of your levels that you can expect profits. The more extensive your sloping grounds, the greater will be the daily produce of the mine.

It think I have abown that your mine will ultimately (when well opened) pay a large profit. Indeed, I think mere favorably of your mine than of any of the Missouriand Illineis mines I have seen.

Boston, May 20, 1894.

Hon. L. G. Carker, President of the Rochester Copper and Lead Hining Company.—

DEAR Size—My box of samples of the Martinsburg lead ores at last came to hand, and I have made my assays on a mixture of equal weights of the ores from the north and south veins, with the following results.—

The mixed ores, is occare powder, were taken as one sample and washed, so as to remove as much of the limestone as possible by that method. These a sample of the ore yielded 450 grains of metallic lead, or 194,000 of its weight, of I he 50,000 lbs.

It is obvious, therefore, that the silver cannot fine silver, or 194,000 of its weight, or I he 50,000 lbs.

It is obvious, therefore, that the silver cannot fine silver, all these one processed in the silver of the weight of the metallic lead, or 20 area as a later make the silver of the vesponarse it, and they can do so by the process I have indicated, and profitably.

As a lead ore, nothing can be better than the Magninaburg product. It is very easily washed, and made so clean as to
